SAMPSON LOW, 47, Ludgate Hill.

47, Ludgate Hill: Jan. 1, 1853.

MR. BENTLEY's list of announcements is a more than ordinarily important one, and comprehends some of the most promising books of the month. The "Miscellany" commences the year with a peculiarly attractive table of contents, and with what would appear to be a first-rate number.

An entirely new edition of Dunglison's Medical Dictionary is in preparation, and will shortly be published in one thick 8vo. volume.

Dr. Cox, of New York, has a new work nearly ready, being his personal literary reminiscences of distinguished men. It will contain several interesting anecdotes, with fragmentary remarks, of the late Dr. Chalmers, with whom the author was intimate.

Dr. Milman's "Fall of Jerusalem," and a "Popular Account of the Electric Telegraph," will form two of the next volumes of Murray's "Reading for the Rail."

Miss Drury, Author of "Friends and Fortune," has published this day a new tale, entitled "Light and Shade ; or, the Young Artist."—The title of Currer Bell's new novel is "Villette."

Messrs. Hurst and Blackett, successors to Mr. Colburn, have in the press a new work, by the Author of "Sam Slick," under the title of "Wise Saws and Modern Instances ;" likewise a Biography, long neglected, of the well-remembered John Abernethy, F.R.S., with a view of his writings, lectures, and character, by George Macilwain.

In our last "Circular" we referred to the announcement of a new magazine devoted to American literature. The first number appears this day, under the title of "Putnam's Monthly," published in both countries simultaneously. The spirit of its proprietors, and the acknowledged talent of its promised contributors, augur that it will supply the long-felt deficiency in American literature, and obtain well-merited success.

"The Unclaimed Daughter," lately published by Messrs. Binns and Goodwin, is exciting considerable attention in consequence of the numerous authentic documents which have been communicated to the publishers, and are now added to the work.

The publication of Mrs. Stowe's promised new work has been and will be somewhat longer delayed, in consequence of the absorbing claims upon her time by the forthcoming "Key to Uncle Tom." The author engaged herself upon this shortly after the various attacks appeared upon the truth of the statements in "Uncle Tom ;" and, instead of the mere pamphlet she contemplated publishing as an "appendix," there has grown upon her hands a work equalling in size, and, if we do not very much mistake, even surpassing in ability of writing and interest of detail, the original work. This sequel to "Uncle Tom" will be published in England for the author, for whom the copyright will be preserved. Mrs. Stowe is a strong advocate of international copyright upon national grounds and principles, and we think her position in America will exercise no mean influence in promoting its ultimate adoption.

MR. BARTLETT'S NEW GIFT BOOK.

Super-royal 8vo. price 16s. cloth gilt,

PICTURES FROM SICILY.

By the Author of "FORTY DAYS IN THE DESERT."

Illustrated with 33 Engravings on Steel, and several Woodcuts.

"This is a very handsome and pleasing pictorial handbook of the beauties of Sicily. The illustrations do honour alike to the artist, engraver, and publishers—and the style is, generally speaking, graphic and faithful..... with an interest, beyond its pictorial claims, upon this Christmas time."—ATHENÆUM.

"As a work of reference it is of the highest utility; as an ornamental book it is unsurpassed; and as a guide to the traveller it has no equal in the English language."

OBSERVER.

"Pictures from Sicily, besides deserving great credit as an artistic performance, and a carefully-written book of Sicilian travel, is prefaced by an admirable, carefully compiled historical introduction; recalling the leading events in the many dynastic changes of the Sicilian crown, and adding interest to the various monuments still existing of the numerous masters under whose sway the fair isle has passed and repassed."—BRITANNIA.

"As a specimen of typography and binding, the volume is most beautiful. The views of Etna, of Messina, of Palermo, of the ruins of the several amphitheatres, and Greek and Roman temples, but, more beautiful than all, the remains of Saracenic and Norman architecture, may rank with the best efforts of artistic pencilling, and the highest examples of modern book illustration."

MORNING ADVERTISER.

THE OLD FOREST RANGER;

Or, Wild Sports of India, on the Neilgherry Hills, in the Jungles, and on the Plains.

By MAJOR WALTER CAMPBELL, of Skipness.

New Edition, with Illustrations on Steel.

"Not the least welcome of our Christmas visitors is this new edition of Major Campbell's 'Wild Sports in India.' The spirit of the sportsman pervades the book; such perils by land and water, such hair-breadth escapes, such conflicts with foes worth the struggle and the hazard! Very different these adventures from the memorabilia of our English sportsmen, who can find no worthier enemy than a fox or a carted deer; whose worst peril is a tumble in a vain attempt to clear a five-bar or cross a ditch. Of the genuine 'sport' to be enjoyed in India, the handsome volume before us contains a graphic description, combined with abundance of anecdote, some passages of fun and frolic, and romance enough to make the fortunes of half-a-dozen novels, only that here all is the romance of reality. The seal of popularity has been set upon it by a higher power than that of the critic. Enough that we announce, as among the literary intelligence of the time, the appearance of this edition of a work already famous, produced in the attractive form of a Christmas book, with numerous engravings of sporting scenes, handsomely printed, and arrayed in a superb binding of green and gold, fitting it for a Christmas gift; and we can hardly conceive a more welcome one to a young man just about to enter on the hardy exercises of the country, or contemplating a campaign among the tigers and bears of India."—CRITIC.

"To have reached a third edition is sufficient proof that these sportsmanlike descriptions of the wild sports of India have addressed themselves to a numerous class who take a warm practical interest in such subjects. But there is also a considerable section of the public who never saw a tiger, except in the Zoological Gardens or a menagerie, but who, nevertheless, like to read of the hunter's desperate escapes, and all the stirring vicissitudes of the chase. Major Campbell paints them with much vivacity, and his accounts of the native people and scenery are also hit off in a vigorous style."—LONDON WEEKLY PAPER.

"Truly, the popularity which it has gained is well deserved. The great variety of field-sports which it describes, with all the exciting accompaniment of terrible dangers and hairbreadth escapes, and the lively humorous tone in which they are narrated, are enough to stir the blood of the most phlegmatic reader; and we can easily believe with what rapturous delight sportsmen of all kinds, but especially old Indians whose memories are refreshed by the tale, are likely to follow the 'Old Forest Ranger' on his venturesome expeditions."—JOHN BULL.

"Full of wild adventures and most amusing incidents, of which thousands who 'have no stomach for the fight' like to hear."—ART-JOURNAL.

"In a word, 'The Old Forest Ranger' may now be reckoned among our modern standard works."
